Use of your Personal Information

Konektid collects and uses your personal information to operate its website(s) and deliver the services you have requested.

Konektid may also use your personally identifiable information to inform you of other products or services available from Konektid and its affiliates.

If you are located outside the United States, by accessing or using any part of this website, you consent your Personal Data being transferred to, as well as processed and stored in, the United States, other countries, and the third parties with which we share your data, as described in this Privacy Policy.

Sharing Information with Third Parties

Konektid may sell, rent, or lease customer information to third parties for the following reasons:

To provide insight and access to other opportunities in the international development and foreign aid market.

Konektid may, from time to time, contact you on behalf of external business partners about a particular offering that may be of interest to you. In those cases, your unique personally identifiable information (e-mail, name, address, telephone number) is transferred to the third party. Konektid may share data with trusted partners to help perform statistical analysis, send you email or postal mail, provide customer support, or arrange for deliveries. All such third parties are prohibited from using your personal information except to provide these services to Konektid, and they are required to maintain the confidentiality of your information.

Konektid may disclose your personal information, without notice, if required to do so by law or in the good faith belief that such action is necessary to: (a) conform to the edicts of the law or comply with legal process served on Konektid or the site; (b) protect and defend the rights or property of Konektid; and/or (c) act under exigent circumstances to protect the personal safety of users of Konektid, or the public.

Tracking User Behavior

Konektid may keep track of the websites and pages our users visit within Konektid, in order to determine what Konektid services are the most popular. This data is used to deliver customized content and advertising within Konektid to customers whose behavior indicates that they are interested in a particular subject area.

Automatically Collected Information

Information about your computer hardware and software may be automatically collected by Konektid. This information can include: your IP address, browser type, domain names, access times and referring website addresses. This information is used for the operation of the service, to maintain quality of the service, and to provide general statistics regarding use of the Konektid website.

Use of Cookies

The Konektid website may use "cookies" to help you personalize your online experience. A cookie is a text file that is placed on your hard disk by a web page server. Cookies cannot be used to run programs or deliver viruses to your computer. Cookies are uniquely assigned to you, and can only be read by a web server in the domain that issued the cookie to you.

One of the primary purposes of cookies is to provide a convenience feature to save you time. The purpose of a cookie is to tell the Web server that you have returned to a specific page. For example, if you personalize Konektid pages, or register with Konektid site or services, a cookie helps Konektid to recall your specific information on subsequent visits. This simplifies the process of recording your personal information, such as billing addresses, shipping addresses, and so on. When you return to the same Konektid website, the information you previously provided can be retrieved, so you can easily use the Konektid features that you customized.

You have the ability to accept or decline cookies. Most Web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. If you choose to decline cookies, you may not be able to fully experience the interactive features of the Konektid services or websites you visit.
